

CLEARING HOUSE

By THE EDITOR

Plans are now being made for the Christmas convocation which has always been an interesting and enjoyable occasion. This year there will be songs by the Men's Glee Club, a short talk by the President of the University, some announcements and general singing of the audience under the leadership of Miss Lewis. This convocation will be a lot of fun, and students will miss something if they are not present. Memorial hall ought to be filled. It will give us a good start for the Christmas holidays.

A Successful Conclusion

Because the anti-syphilis campaign is to last only two more weeks, we hope that every student will attend the motion picture showings and see the library exhibit, to help in bringing the program to a successful conclusion. Any organizations wishing to engage a speaker on the subject should see a member of the Kernel staff.

The Foreign Student

"My Dear G. C. G.—and all the rest who feel as you do: I not only regret your attitude toward the campaign of the YW and YM, I feel sorry for you. The purpose of bringing a Central European student to our campus is not to educate him, but to save him from the confinement of a concentration camp or some worse cruelty. We can offer him more than just financial help, which is all that we could give to one of our own students. Then, too, he would be an asset to our campus . . ."

Christian Ideals

"Primarily . . . we desire to show those students of Central Europe and China that the students of America who claim to be Christians and care for their brothers . . . really do care enough to do something about it . . . Then, too, any nation that is far sighted enough, as China is, to continue the education of her youth during war time . . . deserves all the help we can give her . . . I think I can be safe in saying that those students of this campus who contribute to this relief fund are the ones who give most to our own needy students."—S. P.

Taking It Back

"Dear Sir: About three weeks ago I wrote to you about the pitiful condition and way the sports page was handled. I take it all back. The way was handled in Friday's Kernel makes me take it back . . . I guess I am a sports fanatic but I hate to see good stories wasted on a messy page. Give my congrats to Joe Creason on his fine column on the Rose Bowl selection. It is the first comment I have seen that combines reason and humor. Keep up the good work!"—A. R.

We can't always be sure of Tuesday's paper because it is usually pretty crowded, but we'll do our best to make a good display in Friday's issue.

To Be Or Not . . .

At the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press convention at Danville, Friday and Saturday, quite a bit of discussion arose over the question of whether the editorial page is out-moded, and whether it will eventually be replaced by the personalized column. We would like to have some opinions on the subject. Do you think the editorial page serves a definite purpose or do you believe that it is useless?

My Friends . . .

Another writer, J. F. K., who complained of the lack of intramural news a few weeks ago, notes that on Friday "The entire paper seemed improved, especially headlines on the sports page." According to the writer, even the columns were better.

Notes To Professors

Here are some complaints concerning professors on the campus, picked up in classes and from students.

Why do some instructors teach so-called facts which they obviously do not believe?

Why do some instructors act as if they are afraid to say what they actually think?

Why do some instructors insist on written or oral answers which do not allow for any thought, but which must be couched in the words of that instructor?

Why do some instructors insist on 100% class attendance and mark off when the student who cuts three or four times during the semester makes better grades on tests and daily in class than the 100% attendance student?

Why do some instructors conduct classes in such a way as to insult the intelligence of their students?

Here are some complaints concerning students on the campus, picked up from professors and graduate students.

Why do some students expect the instructors to do all the work?

Why do some students seem to fear the process of education?

Why do some students cheat themselves by cutting classes so often?

Why do some students learn everything by rote memory rather than by using facts gained to think for themselves?

Why do some students stay away

Tri-Delt Mildred Croft Reigns
As Kentuckian Beauty Queen

Phi Delt Herbert Hillenmeyer
Is Named Most Popular
Man On Campus

Against a background of tuxedoed men and hoop-skirted coeds, Mildred Croft, Delta Delta Delta, was selected queen of the campus beauties at the 1938-39 Kentuckian dance Saturday night in the Union ballroom.

Attendants in the order named are Jeannie Barker, Alpha Gamma Delta; Ramona Perkins, Kappa Delta; Virginia Smith, Kappa Gamma, and Dorothy Bond, Kappa Delta.

Herbert Hillenmeyer, Phi Delta Theta, as the most popular man at the University, shared honors with the queen and her court.

Presentation of the beauty group and the most popular man was made on a three-tiered dias with a backdrop representing a huge 1939 Kentuckian cover. Bouquets of roses were given to the winners by members of the Kentuckian staff.

Kentuckian Editor Sidney B. Buckley conducted the ceremonies.

Followed by the attendants, the beauty queen and the most popular man led the grand march which was terminated in a special queen's no break.

From a group of thirty candidates representing 10 campus organizations, the queen and her court were selected by five judges. The most popular man was chosen by the vote of the student body.

Jack Coffee with his Rocking Rocking Rhythm band furnished the music.

DEAN REVIEWS BOOK

Only those students registered as freshmen will be allowed to vote, election officials said.

Good Costuming, Novel Stage Effects Streamline 'The Rivals' To Success

By GEORGE LAMASON

Beautiful costuming, novel stage effects, and excellent characterization combined to make the Guignol's presentation of Sheridan's "The Rivals," which opened last night for a week's run, one of the best plays seen on the boards of the Little Theatre for several seasons.

At the beginning of the play, the characters, in dancing costumes, were posed as a framed picture of a garden scene in Bath, England.

The famous comedy of stolen interviews, numerous suitors, and unreasonable jealousies, is almost entirely a farce, with the minor plot of Falkland and Julia a sop to the love addicts.

Effective handling of dialect made the part of Sir Lucius O'Trigger (Sam Nuckles) one of the best in the piece.

C. R. Lisanby decisively carried off the slapstick antics of Bob Acres. The character's "nice derangement of epitaphs" were delivered in the actress's excellent stage voice and the malapropish "parts of speech" received just the correct emphasis.

Attractive Barbara Smith as Lydia Languish, that strange combination of extravagance and simplicity who thought elopement a prerequisite to successful marriage, was the quintessence of feminine loveliness.

Choleric generous Sir Anthony Absolute was well characterized by Robert Hobgood, but the part of his son, Captain Jack Absolute, played by Clarence Geiger, lacked finesse and impressiveness.

With a cast of fifteen University students, the premier production of a Biblical drama, "The Blood of Rachel," written by Cotton Noe, professor emeritus of the University, and poet laureate of Kentucky, will open for a week's run December 12 at the Guignol Theatre.

Frank Fowler is producing director with Mary Wood Brown as associate director, and Elizabeth Brown as assistant director.

Time Sheets
Will Be Due
On Thursday

All NYA time sheets will be due in the offices of Dean Sarah G. Blanding and Dean T. T. Jones by noon Thursday, December 8. Dean Jones announced yesterday.

If the sheets are turned in promptly, it may be possible to distribute checks before the Christmas holidays.

Dean Jones stated.

Kernel Is Chosen As Best College Paper In Kentucky

UK Phi Beta Kappa Selects 6 Students For Membership

Five Seniors, One Graduate
Get Nod From Honorary

Two Films
On Syphilis
To Be Shown

Election of six outstanding seniors and one graduate student to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity in liberal arts colleges, was announced Saturday by Dr. Thomas M. Hahn, secretary of the University chapter.

Chosen as members of the society were Katherine Elizabeth Crouse, Lexington; Virginia Arthur Dickey, Flemingsburg; Arthur Wayne Plummer, Millersburg; Henry Power Pritchard, Paris; Sue D. Parks, Lexington; and Mary Ann Stilz, Lexington.

Also selected by the fraternity was Frank Mason McGee, graduate assistant in the department of mathematics, who received his bachelor's degree from the University in June.

In observance of the 162nd anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa, the Central Kentucky Association held a Founder's Day dinner at 6 o'clock Monday night at the Phoenix hotel.

Dr. Julian Price Love of Louisville, president of the Western Kentucky Association, was guest speaker at the banquet. Officers of the Central Kentucky group include Dr. Jesse Herrman, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, president; Mrs. Marie Jo Crutcher of Williamsburg, vice-president; Dr. Jesse E. Adams of the University faculty, secretary-treasurer.

One film showing extreme cases was selected for showing in hygiene and military classes and for men's groups. The other films also dealing with causes, effects, treatments, and in particular, the mortality rate in childbirth was shown last night to Patterson Hall coeds, and to Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, and Kappa Delta sororities.

Any organization wishing to arrange a showing of the pictures is asked to see some member of the Kernel staff.

In addition to showings before military and hygiene classes this week, the following schedule has been arranged for campus organizations:

Tuesday
Alpha Xi, Alpha Gamma Delta at Alpha Xi house, 7:15 p. m.
Wednesday
Alpha Delta Theta, Zeta Tau Alpha at Zeta house, 7:00 p. m.
Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma at Kappa house, 8:30 p. m.

Thursday
Dormitory men and all other interested men in Room 111, McVey hall, 7:30 p. m.

Five Juniors And One Senior
To Be Received Into Honorary

Edward Jefferson, Providence, senior in the College of Engineering, was elected president of the newly formed Engineering Student Council, a governing body in all affairs participated in by the college as a whole, it was announced yesterday by the secretary of the organization.

Other officers are Ray Smith, Lexington, vice-president; Robert Triplett, Owensboro, secretary; and John Creech, Danville, treasurer. Prof. C. S. Crouse, head of the Department of Mining and Metallurgy, was elected sponsor, with Dean J. H. Graham as honorary chairman.

The 12 active members are composed of three representatives from each department in the college of engineering, the student assembly, one elected junior, and one elected senior compose the departmental delegation.

Other members are Robert Strohm, Robert Clayton, and John Creech, Department of Mining and Metallurgy; Norman Wides, Edward Jefferson, and Robert Triplett, Department of Mechanical Engineering; D. C. Schaefer, Ray Smith, and Jack Ballard, Department of Electrical Engineering; and Stuart Wahl, William Auping, and James Bolling, Department of Civil Engineering.

Following the initiation, a banquet will be held at the Union building in honor of the new initiates. Robert Bishop, executive secretary of ODK, Cincinnati, will be present at the dinner.

MATHEMATICIAN TO TALK

DEAN HOLMES SPEAKS

Frank McGee will speak on "Mathematics from Zero to LaGrange" at the meeting of the Pi Epsilon Pi, national social fraternity, Thursday, December 8 at Louisville.

The junior initiates are: William Duff, Phi Delta Theta, for outstanding activity in scholarship and social service; John H. Morgan, Lambda Chi Alpha, in publications and social service; William L. Tudor, Delta Tau Delta, social service; Marvin Snyder, Louisville; Phil Schiff, Newport; Nathan Cooper, Providence; Gerald Greenfield, Winchester; Jack Goldenburg, Somerset; Harold Baker, Lexington; and Al Straus, Louisville.

Members of the "Mechanics of the Farmstead" class in the College of Agriculture will inspect the plant of the B. F. Avery Plow Company Thursday, December 8 at Louisville.

One hundred and eight students will make the farm engineering field trip and will be taken on a tour of the Avery plant to study the manufacture of farm machinery.

Award Announced At Meeting Of Press Association In Danville

ENQUIRER NEWSMEN ARE CONTEST JUDGES
More Than Forty Delegates Attend Convention, Hear Underwood

The Kernel was chosen the best all-around college newspaper in Kentucky at the semi-annual meeting of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association Friday and Saturday at Centre College, Danville.

Other awards garnered by the Kernel at the meeting were first places for sports and feature stories, second place for editorials, and third place for advertising.

Selection of the winners, from entries submitted by seven Kentucky colleges, was made by Ralph Quinn, general manager of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and Hub Logan, former Kentucky editor of the same paper.

Other colleges entered in the contests were Murray, Eastern, Western, Georgetown, Morehead, and Transylvania.

More than 40 delegates from seven colleges attended the two-day meet. A series of roundtable discussions of college newspaper problems was on the program Friday.

Leading the roundtable discussion on advertising was John H. Morgan, Kernel advertising manager. Kernel Editor L. T. Iglesias presided at the sessions.

Climaxing the first day's program was a banquet for delegates held at the Kentucky College for Women. Tom Underwood, editor of the Lexington Herald, was principal speaker.

Discussing qualities of good journalism, Mr. Underwood stressed accuracy, saying that never in our history has there been a time when accuracy of reporting was more needed than at present.

A business session Saturday morning closed the meeting. It was decided that the next meeting of the association would be held at the University in April.

108 Ag Engineers To Visit Louisville

Building Healthy
Bodies And Minds

The intramural contests, which are now creating such enthusiastic student interest, have definitely carved a place for themselves in the athletic program of the University.

Approximately 1,000 students, many of whom are unable to participate in the intercollegiate activities, now fulfill their desire for athletic competition in the enjoyable and healthful exercise of intramural sports.

Although intramural sports have existed on the campus since 1905, it was not until 1928 that these activities were recognized, at the request of the students, and included in the athletic program. As a result of this recognition, the program has expanded each year to include more kinds of competitions and more participants.

At the present time, fifteen of the most prominent team and individual sports are woven into a year-around schedule. All have gained in popularity yearly, and many of the contests draw large crowds of spectators. When admission is charged, the proceeds are turned back to the students in the form of equipment or trophies which are secured to supplement the donations of fraternal and honorary organizations on the campus.

In all contests, emphasis is placed on the important fundamentals of health and discipline—both mental and physical. The intramural department deserves commendation for its success in fostering these contests and for its sponsorship of good sportsmanship and fair play.

How To Be Happy
Without Spending Money

For several weeks, a group of YWCA and YMCA workers have been conducting supervised recreation periods for children of the reform school. Daily from 4 to 7 p. m., the children are required to assemble in the center room of their cottages, and heretofore nothing has been planned for this period.

It is for this reason that the two campus groups go out on Monday nights. They are making the few hours a little more cheerful and are teaching the children how to entertain themselves when the groups are not there. There is also another purpose for the visits. The YM and YW hope to get acquainted with the youngsters and perhaps aid them when they are released.

The women's group plans games for the girls and teaches them how to make useful articles in their spare time, while the men's organization supervises athletic matches for the boys. Because the institution is lacking in magazines and books, our campus groups are asking other organizations at the University to help make these hours a real recreation period by donating old magazines and books that would be suitable for these children.

Since meeting the YM and YW groups the children eagerly look forward to Monday nights. They know that there will be something different and they also know that someone is interested enough to help make a few hours more enjoyable.

Any and every campus organization can take part in this program by helping plan the activities and by donating discarded magazines and books. It is entertaining work and it gives you that peculiar personal "glowing feeling" which results from helping others.—N. O.

What About The Others?

The following note was received recently: "I seem to detect a note of triumph in your news and editorial columns concerning syphilis. This may be all right, but if I remember correctly, only 1900 tests were given. What about the other 1700 students?"

That rather "stumped" us for awhile, but then came this answer: In the first place, 1900 is not the final total. A small number of students visit the dispensary each day to take the tests which will be given during regular office hours until the Christmas holidays. And even only 1900 seems to be a fairly large representation when you consider that the Wassermanns were not compulsory. Very few campus activities, requiring that all students do the same thing, command that attendance.

Secondly, because the purpose of the campaign is primarily educational, it is not absolutely necessary to test everyone, although it would be much better that way. In addition to that, we feel that those who are more qualified to benefit by education and to instruct others are the ones that have taken the tests and are attending the showing of films during the days before December 17.

In other words, we feel that this program has reached and influenced the better students and the more civic-minded individuals on the University campus.

Behind The Eckdahl

By ANDREW C. ECKDAHL

Miss Martha Hume, a member of Delta Delta Delta, a sorority, was berating us the other night about this and that and one thing and another, and especially about the fact that Delta Delta Delta, a sorority, was never, or at best infrequently, mentioned in this column.

To quote Miss Hume, "You are always blowing up the Alpha Gams and the KD's, and writing about Miss Pat Hamilton who is a Kappa."

We were not aware that we were slighting Delta Delta Delta, a sorority; in fact, we were hardly aware of Delta Delta Delta, a sorority. It's just a case of not knowing how the other half lives.

And the editor seems to have some naive idea that a humor column should make people laugh. Therefore it behoves us to write items that are funny. And anyone with the perception of a schoolboy can see that it is difficult to write humor about something that is beyond our ken.

But to appease the wrath of Miss Hume—every time we see her we feel that she is going to rasp out "off with his head" and have somebody hustle us off to a guillotine—we find it necessary to write something about Delta Delta Delta, a sorority.

So for the benefit of those interested, we list the following facts concerning Delta Delta Delta, a sorority:

1. Delta Delta Delta is a sorority.
2. Miss Martha Hume is a member.
3. The president is Dot Hillenmeyer. Or is it Herb?
4. All of the Deltas are spelled the same.

We could tell by the expression on our puppy's face when he was about to lose his tail that he was going to enjoy it no end.

—Line O' Type or Two.

Corny Joke Department

(Lifted from a talk given by the Lexington Herald's Mr. Tom Underwood at the recent Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association banquet.)

It was in a recent political campaign. One of the state's fiery rabble rousers was swinging into action when he was interrupted by a voice from the crowd, as follows:

- "What about the national debt?"
 "Well, what about it."
 "What are you going to do about it?"
 "How much is it?"
 "Forty-one billion dollars."
 "Well if you are going to kick up any row, I'll pay it myself."

An Editor Says

If that joke doesn't have a dirty meaning it isn't funny, and if it does have a dirty meaning leave it out.

Heard at the dance: "Say, just who is this Mildred Croft anyway?"

We would like to dispute the old adage about square pegs not fitting in round holes. There are many students on the campus who are blockheads and fill the zero ranks notably.—L. B.

May I enlist the aid of your column in banding together those of us who still enjoy music as natural to start an immediate campaign for the formation of a new society? It would be called the Association for the Prevention of Swinging Christmas Carols.

—Wake of the News" in Chicago Tribune.

Department of Public Service

We don't make a point of going around correcting the blunders of our fellow publications, but one Miss Sonia Berkowitz, an ag student, wishes it known to one and all that her telephone number is 5253-Y, NOT 5353-Y as listed in the Student Directory.

"Is Chamberlain England?" asks the Indiana Daily Student. We don't know, but pose a similar question about Germany and we will take a stab at answering it.

Hi Yo Silverman, away.

Scene in Grill: curtain rises on lovely lass munching sandwich ardently—

Ollie Montgomery: "Frances, what are you doing eating? Aren't you going out for lunch?"

Frances Hardwick: "Yes, I'm going to the Phi Tau house, but I thought I'd better eat before I went."

Did you know that the same year Bill Tracey won his varsity football letter in high school he won a first prize in the biscuit making contest? And did you know that Stan Hayes is an ex-West Point cadet? And that Dameron Davis once saved Mack Hughes life by giving him two blood transfusions close together when he could have stopped with the first? And that Power Pritchard is one of the rare people who have absolutely "perfect pitch" and that he made Phi Beta Kappa this year?

I sipped the sweet nectar from her lips,
 As under the moon we sat,
 And I wondered if any other sap,
 Had drunk from a mug like that.

Tidbits: Bee Ficklin's man from Baltimore came down to see her Thanksgiving . . . Mary Kay Boland and Beau Brummel seen at Benton's . . . also attractive Jane Bayham and Dick Swope . . . not to speak of darkhaired angel Helen Babbitt and Scott Breckinridge, who seems to be habit-forming where Helen is concerned, and brother John with a satin-encased Agnes Gilbert . . . Joe Cerason beaming at a table with his one-and-only from Murray who was down for the week-end . . . Art Shaw's "Nightmare" theme song is worth a couple of dozen trips to the Cottage to hear . . . Louis Barker to his surprise, had a date the other eve. Bravo! . . . Harry Williams tells the most interesting lion stories . . . and here are some "handed in" anonymous morsels: Chi Delta Phi President Kadell Dorn seems to be doing awl-right, at least she's considered a "goddess" by the English department!!! . . . Bernice Naylor is flashing a diamond—they say it's Kenneth Morgan . . . Had you noticed Mary Ellen Ferguson's sudden ambition for Tau Beta Pi? And it was well founded . . . and anonymous quote. Thanks.

Torso tussels come and go but Saturday's beauty-fest was one of the worst examples of contract breaking we've had yet. Reggie Childs seems to have taken his date with the Kentuckian very lightly. The orchestra who played dulcet tunes to the uncrowded ballroom was Jack Coffee, Hotel Gibson band, who had a tough break when the front loud speaker wouldn't work. According to loyal supporters of the Gibson, Coffee's aggregation is tops, but going by unbiased opinion, it wasn't so hot.

An unusual occurrence, designed to acquire a pedestal among college incidents, is the birthday party.

Prof. Farquhar instigated for Patty Field Van Meter. He announced the birthday, had Patty stand up, and presented her with a present while the class sang "Happy Birthday To You!"

Sherman Hinkebein (maybe you've heard the name before) looked up one day last week, grabbed a pair of binoculars (not literally), and spotted an entire wheel of his new car resting serenely on the roof of Kincaid hall. They say the Hinkebein is a bit stingy with his pet buggy and that the dismantling was a protest.

Her most avid radio fans are her sorority sisters and members of the radio staff. Next week I will give a portrait of Alan Vogeler, head announcer.

Kay Kayser's College of Musical Knowledge (Wednesday 9 p. m. WLW) presents a question and answer program which is comparable to professor Quiz . . . Interesting are the replies of many of the contestants on the programs.

Last Wednesday Kayser imitated the voice of President Roosevelt saying, "My friends," and asked the girl who it was. The reply created a ripple of applause throughout the studio audience. She answered, obviously thinking of Jimmie Durante, "A man with a big nose."

The story broke in New York radio circles recently that Thomas Dewey, district attorney, had been taking lessons on mike technique for campaign purposes, realizing fully the powerful potentialities of a good radio voice in securing votes. We shudder when we think of the results when Alan Vogeler, senior law student and head announcer, runs for political office.

A local broadcasting station will be on hand at Stoll field tomorrow afternoon to bring to radio fans an account of the East-West football classic . . . What girl from Patt Hall recently sang over WLAP under the pseudonym of Betty Hewitt?

Mary Louise McKenna gets too little publicity for her able vocalizing each week on campus programs.

Tom Pike, law student and make-up man on The Kernel, continues his fine dramatizations of "The Complicated Lives of Jake and Jonah" over WLAP at 1:30 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Tom writes all dialogue and acts all the characters, a somewhat remarkable feat.

Thirty-Two Men To Battle For Titles In Maul Finals Thursday

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

WHEN you say that, pull in your ears and duck podner!

In case you are one of those guys who has contended so long and so vehemently that the type of football played by Kentucky high schools is inferior to the calibre of other states—you'd best fold up your tent and sneak through the nickel seat exit with the Arabs. The East-West charity clete-classic unfurled on Stoll Field Saturday afternoon was convincing evidence that Kentucky prep school talent ranks with the best in the nation. Old timers scratch their heads and think back through the years and still recapture recollections of but few games that were better played or more evenly matched than Saturday's scoreless deadlock.

Ordinarily sitting for two hours through a score-void game is as distasteful as leaving the dinner table before the steak is served, but the all-star presentation, despite the lack of six points, was as full of thrills as a ten-cent detective magazine.

Probably the best proof that Kentucky high school football is rated highly is evidenced by the number of schools that had scouts at the game. Out of state representatives swarmed to the game like moths to a free lunch. For example, I sat within whispering distance of Joseph A. Meyer, University of Cincinnati coach, and scouts from Vanderbilt and Xavier, all who sat with note books in hand taking names of players who caught their eye. From a reliable source comes the word that 9 of the Southeastern Conference's 13 teams had contact men at the game. That's conclusive proof that Kentucky school football is rated high. And just what sort of a show did the boys throw for the visitors and customers? As a shot in the arm for your memory, think through the following incidents.

East Threatens First

Late in the first quarter, with Rucker, Ball and Howard alternating at the driver's seat, the Eastern team drove from their own 42 yard line to the West 5, where the line of scrimmage was drawn, with first down and goal to go. Four tries at the line netted but two yards and the ball was turned over to the West and was immediately punted out of the danger zone. Then the West put on their first offensive show of the afternoon. After taking the ball on their own 27 yard line, the Blues, or West, rolled 59 yards to the East 14 before the drive was stymied on downs. Thus in the elapse of less than three minutes both teams had made serious scoring bids.

But even more in the line of fire works was to come. The third quarter had aged but four minutes when the Westerners moved to the Maroon, or East, 1 yard line before turning over the leather. Taking the Eastern punt-out, on the Red 39 another drive was launched that moved to the 11. Here the Eastern line dug in and bounded the ball back to the 16, from which point Sengle of St. Xavier, Louisville, made a desperate scoring bid with a field goal attempt. With the ball resting 15 yards from the South side on the field and with the goal posts offering little more than a 15 degree angle at which to aim, the attempt was wide to the right but a few feet.

The Game Closed

Then came an Eastern drive that transformed the highly partisan stadium into an outdoor madhouse. Taking the ball on their own 20 after the field goal try and with seconds left on the timer's clock, the East drove to the West 2-yard line. The punt was taken on the 35 and another drive was started that moved to the 5 and that was repulsed only after an Eastern field goal attempt from the 11 had gone far wide.

Citizen's Day, enabling all residents of Lexington and Fayette county to inspect the Union building, will be held from 3 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m., Friday, Dec. 9, according to an announcement from the director's office.

Fayette Residents Invited To Attend Building Inspection

The basketball game scheduled for Friday night with Southwestern in Memphis, Tenn., has been cancelled and instead the Wildcats will meet Kentucky Wesleyan college Saturday night in Alumni Gym.

The Southwestern battle was originally billed for Saturday night with Coach Rupp carrying his Cats to Memphis but at the request of Tennessee officials the bout was rearranged for Friday. When another postponement was asked, Kentucky decided to call the whole thing off and booked Wesleyan to fill the gap.

Phi Mu Re-instated With Pledging Rites For 21 Musicians

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national music fraternity, was reorganized on this campus Monday night with pledging ceremonies for 21 men.

Pledging officer was Professor Alvin Beecher of Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio. Initiation will be held the first part of January.

Those pledged were James Young, H. M. Cochrane, Charles Garland, Chester Gierlach, Palmer Evans, John Clarke, Dawes Thomson, T. S. Haynes, Harold Katz, Presley Wood, Reginald Courtois, Ivan Potts, Wallace Hughes, Elwood Robinson, Milton Stewart, Herman Kendall, Robert Thomas, Louis Barker, William Elder, Samuel Simonton, and C. P. Johnson.

MUEHSLER IMPROVING

The condition of Edwin Muehsler, Rockford, Ill., senior in the department of journalism and managing editor of the Kernel, was reported "satisfactory" late yesterday by Good Samaritan hospital authorities. Muehsler underwent an appendectomy Saturday morning.

This Is A Ringer

In the words of the prophet—"He who socks—gets socked," or words to that effect.

Just in case you care to see the wisdom of that axiom carried out to the letter, drop around to the Gym annex tonight for the semi-final round of the Intramural boxing tournament. Just a warning, if perchance you like your boxing sitting down, be on hand early because seats for late arrivals are as scarce as Marines at a Naval reunion.

A marked feature of the bouts so far has been the number of knock-outs, and believe you me, you never know when one of the frigidaire punches is coming. Perhaps that's what moves the customers temporarily into screaming insanity at the matches. Honestly, the gym is actually aircooled by the air stirred up by the waving gloves.

Union Open House Set For Thursday In Recreation Room

Union open house will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Thursday in the Recreation Room of the Union, Homer Thompson, chairman of the house committee, announced today.

The date has been changed from Friday to Thursday as the house committee wants all students, organized and independents, to take full advantage of the recreation offered, Thompson said.

Punch will be served during the dancing and card playing. Records requested by dancers will be heard over the loudspeaker. Members of the house committee are to be the hosts and hostesses.

Peggy Ann Weakley is in charge of the refreshment committee, and Jean Meeger will serve.

Opportunity Offered Students To Learn Elements Of Chess

A chess club, organized for the entertainment of students who are already familiar with the game and for the purpose of teaching the rudiments of chess playing to students who wish to learn, will meet at 7:30 p.m. every Thursday in the Union building.

Students, whether experienced players or beginners are invited to attend the meeting on December 8. Donald Pennoch will teach beginners the rules, moves, and general principles of the game. Crittenton Lowry, chairman on the Union activities committee, states that while the game is often represented as one which is very difficult to play, this is not strictly true, and those students who desire to learn and who attend the meeting Thursday will have some knowledge of the game at the end of the meeting.

BASKETBALL

Georgetown was concerned the game was over. With Curtis leading the way Kentucky had moved into a 23-7 lead at the half time intermission.

Georgetown's second field goal of the game came after seven minutes of the second half had elapsed when Bridges found the range from far out and followed it up with two other loopers in quick succession. The lead was sliced to 25-17 before Clugghie broke the charm by jamming a follow-up shot down the floor. The other Tiger field goal was made by Rudy on a sneaker play and a long pass down the floor with five minutes remaining in the game.

The box score:

Kentucky (39) Georgetown (19)
Goodman (2) P. Bridges (9)
Hart (4) P. Thompson (7)
Thompson (7) C. Quinlan
Rouse (5) G. McLaughlin
Opner (4) G. Schaefer
Sengle (6) Head (11) Jefferson (2) Jackson
Denham, Hodge and Huber, Georgetown
Rudy (3) Cundiff, Stockdale and Kling.

Engineers Will Hear Address By Thomas

Public Is Invited To Attend Friday Assembly In Memorial Hall

Dr. Phillips Thomas, research engineer for the Westinghouse company, will address the engineering assembly at 10 a.m., Friday, December 9, in Memorial hall.

In connection with his lecture Dr. Thomas will demonstrate a number of the latest developments in electrical apparatus.

Dr. Thomas obtained his Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State University and his degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Princeton, where he was for a time an instructor in electrical engineering.

Officials of the College of Engineering announced that the lecture will be open to the general public.

Wildcats Will Play Wesleyan Saturday

The basketball game scheduled for Friday night with Southwestern in Memphis, Tenn., has been cancelled and instead the Wildcats will meet Kentucky Wesleyan college Saturday night in Alumni Gym.

The Southwestern battle was originally billed for Saturday night with Coach Rupp carrying his Cats to Memphis but at the request of Tennessee officials the bout was rearranged for Friday. When another postponement was asked, Kentucky decided to call the whole thing off and booked Wesleyan to fill the gap.

YM-YW Will Offer New Study Course

A "How to Study" course will be sponsored by the University Service committee of the YW and YM, with the first session being held Tuesday, December 6 in the Y rooms. Dr. C. C. Ross, head of the educational psychology department, will be in charge of the three sessions.

The second discussion, "How to Write a Term Paper," will be held Tuesday, December 13 and the final session, "How to Review for Examinations" will be conducted Tuesday, January 10.

ALUMNI GYM SELECTED AS SITE OF LAST INTRAMURAL WARFARE

Survivors of two rounds of rigid eliminations—32 strong from the starting field of 80—will face the final barrier of the 10th annual Intramural boxing and wrestling tournament Thursday night in Alumni gym.

The final scene was shifted from the Gym annex to the more spacious Alumni gym in order to care for the capacity audience that is expected to view the fights. Last year the finals attracted 1,500 fans who screamed their appreciation of the battles. The semi-final round of the wrestling tourney was held last night with the boxing semi-finals due to be contested tonight in the Gym annex.

Five contenders in the boxing tournament have already advanced to the finals. In the 115 pound class Baker, Phi Kappa Tau, will battle the winner of the Wheeler, Independent, and Nichols, SAE, scrap.

The 125 pound finalists, Phillips, ATO, and Pettus, Alpha Gamma Rho, were the only entrants in their class and automatically qualified for the finals.

R. Winchester, Independent, meets the survivor of the Spickard, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Ramsey, Sigma Chi, engagement in the final light weight battle. Independent Bob Palmer will tangle with the winner of the Zinn, Independent, and Gibson, Alpha Gamma Rho, brawl for the heavy-weight trophy.

Two wrestlers, Baker, Phi Kappa Tau, in the 115 pound division, and Sherman Hinkebein, last season's champion and again tugging for Sigma Chi, have already reached the finals.

The second round of boxing was held Thursday night before a capacity audience in the annex. The 15 fights on the program were highly contested by three knockouts. The second fight on tap for the evening produced the first k.o. when Independent Tony Frezza dropped Spencer, Independent, for the count early in the third round.

Throughout the fight both men showed a willingness to mix and stood toe to toe slugging until both reeled away from sheer exhaustion. As the final round opened Spencer was floored for a count of nine and then Frezza finished the fight with

The annual Inter-Fraternity Ball, second formal dance of the year, will be held from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, Saturday, December 10, in the Union ballroom, it was announced yesterday by Jack Way, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Jack Coffey and his orchestra, formerly billed at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati, will play for the dance. Admission will be 75 cents per stag or couple, with no advance ticket sales.

The committee for arrangements is composed of Herbert Hillenmeyer, chairman, William McConnell, and Jack Way.

Concerning The Drama

"Dear Sir: In response to Mr. Caldwell's question as to why 'Strollers' or a substitute is not organized on the campus, I would like to say that an attempt to do that was made but the Administration gave a definite answer of 'No' to the plan. However, we do have Guignol, which I believe ranks in the first seven of over 200,000 Little Theatres in the country. Last year, someone attempted to offer more classes in dramatics but was told that not enough students were interested in dramatics to warrant more classes."—M. C.
